Easter 7

Reflection

Families can mean many things. They can be our own families, a church family, or families that have invited us in and included us in their lives. It doesn't necessarily mean a father, mother, brother or sister, but no matter what the relationship, we need to love and to value them.

Reflection

Sometimes in the “busyness” of our lives we get caught up in the frantic pace of work, play, friends etc. and lose sight of the simple, beautiful times that we can share as a family. These times can be filled with the blessings of children's laughter and playing, as well as loving together.

Response

I need sometimes to take stock and see if the face I show at home is the same face that I show the world – one of patience and tolerance. I should never forget that the people I know so well and with whom I spend most of my time, deserve the same consideration that I feel I need.

Action

Dear Lord, teach me to plan quiet times to be with my family, times to listen to each other and count our blessings as we experience your love and your peace. Show me how to slow down and try not to crowd so much into my life as well as the lives of my family.

Beyond Seacliff

Pilgrimage of Healing

Each year during Reconciliation Week (27 May – 3 June annually), the Pilgrimage of Healing raises funds for a particular Uniting Aboriginal and Islander Christian Congress (UAICC) project.

This year, proceeds will go towards the UAICC's vision for developing a regional, ecumenical faith community based in the old Taillem Bend Uniting Church building. The building requires a number of urgent, critical repairs to ensure it's a suitable and safe space. Members of the Uniting Church SA are encouraged to prayerfully consider donating to this cause.

For more information about the Pilgrimage of Healing, please contact Congress Resource Officer Ian Dempster on 0417 217 320 or email idempster@sa.uaicc.org.au
